A MOBLE HOD CARRIER.

Remantic Story of an Austrian Baron.

[From the Galesburg (Ill.) Free Press, Oct. 9.]

On Thursday atternoon last Colonel Carr, the Fostmaker, received a neavy sealed document at his fice, postmarked "Vienna," and directed to "Herr arl von Vechter, Galesburg, Knox county, State Illinois, United States of North America." nowing that the massive letter must be of impornce from its created seals and general official poarance, he despatched Mr William Fost, Chic.

of lilinois, thicked states of the contract that the massive letter must be of importance from its created seals and general official appearance, he despatched Mr. White Mr. Contract of the contract of the individual wanted until he met with Mr. John Loos, the well known saloon keeper on the east side of the square. Mr. Loos know a Charley Vechter; he was working on the new hotel building, and both walked over there, where they found Vechter about to ascend a ladder, with a food on his shoulder. When Mr. Post handed him the letter and he had read it the delight of the hodman knew no bounds. He threw his hod full of brick away and embraced Mr. Post, calling him his dearest friend. The letter contained a draft for 37,500 on the First National Bank of Chicago, and he insisted on paying Mr. Post $500 for being the bearer of such joyful toings as the document contained, which, of course, Mr. Post refused.

In the year 1867 Herr Von Vechter, being then ninsteed years old and of a noble family, entered the Austrian army as lieutenant, and through regular gradations in 1868 arrived at the rank of major. In the month of September of that year he was grossly insulted at a levee by the colonic of hy tegiment. Proud and high spirited, he resented the infalt, and a challenge was passed between the two officers. They met—pistols at ten paces—and the Colonel fell. With great difficulty Vechter cluded the authorities, and at length escaped to England. There he remained but a short time, and, finding no suitable employment, he cunbarked for the United States, and at length escaped to England. There he remained but a short time, and, finding no suitable employment, he cunbarked for the United States, and upon his arrival, proceeded to Chicago. He arrived in that city on the day the melligence of the fall of Fort Sumter flashed through the country, and his means being nearly exhausted, he enlisted in the Ninth Illinois, then being organized. The man who had work the epaulets—of an Austrian government might learn his whereabouts a new hotel.

The packet he received yesterday contained a full pardon under the sign manual of the Emperor. The Colonel had only been severely wounded, and freely acknowledged that he had been in fault and that the duet had been of his own secking. By the death of his uncile You Vecher inherits a rich estate and the title of baron. Thus has the humble hod carrier been elevated and restored to his proper place, as at the same time he lands in his native country be will receive his commission as colonel of als old regiment.

Previous to his departure on the 9:20 train for ment,

Previous to his departure on the 9:20 train for Chicago—from whence he will go to New York, where he will embark for Europe—he made generous presents to many who had betriended him here, Captain Emrich informs us that a marriage in high lue will take place in Vienna shortly after the Baron's arrival there.

A FEMALE LAWYEE.—The Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser says:—One day last week a novel case was tried in the Court House at Gre oville. Judge M. C. Lane brought suit against Miss Josephine Hutton for a fee. The lady appeared in court, pleaded her own case, examined witnesses and made a long speech to the jury. The case, however, went against her. Her reason for appearing was that she did not believe an honest lawyer was to be found in the country. She said, among other things, that if an earthquake was to come and the cloud were to fall she believed that the first thing thought of by the lawyers would be the collection of their fees preparatory to entering upon that long journey in search of a future home deep down in the dominions of his Satanie Majesty, whither they were all slowly but surely tending.
